

The Recent Life Changes Questionnaire (R-RLCQ) was first used to collect information on life changes. It has since been updated to better reflect the impact of today's stress.

To use the questionnaire, use a 6-month or 12-month time span and then, for any events that happened to you in that time, copy the number of Life Change Units (LCU) into 1. 'My LCU'.

Total the score at the bottom and then follow the steps for columns 2 & 3.

Scoring

Total the scores in column 1. My LCU. A 6-month score of 300 or more, or a year score of 500 or more, indicates the potential for high stress in your life. Your reaction to the stressor, however, is the key to successful 'Stress Defense'. In column 2. review each LCU score and determine whether the stressor is HI, MED or LO with regards to its impact in your life. In column 3. Write a ✓ if you have a 'Stress Defense' in place, or an ✗ if the stressor has control over aspects of your life.

Recent Life Changes 'Stress Defense Plan' – pause and reflect

1. As you went through the list above, were there any events that really stood out for you, as things, for example, that you might not have considered as stressors?    Y                    N

If Yes, which one(s)? _____
_____
_____

2. Many people have difficulty recognizing the impact of events on stress. Awareness of key stressors and your reaction to them are the first steps to building your 'Stress Defense'. List your "top three" stressors, your CURRENT coping mechanism with them, and brain storm a possible 'defence tactic'.

Stress #1 _____

My current coping mechanism is: _____

The next time stress starts to creep in hopefully you'll recognize some of the signs and 'put up your defences' before things get out of hand. It's a process that takes time and patience, but the end result will be worthwhile.
